

Chhattisgarh

INDIA

Folk Tales

COLLECTED BY THEO. H. TWENTE

FOLK TALES
of CHHATTISGARH
INDIA

COLLECTED BY
THEOPHIL H. TWENTE

ILLUSTRATIONS BY
DOROTHY R. FYSON

COVER DESIGN BY
EDWARD A. PARSKE

COPYRIGHT 1938—THEOPHIL H. TWENTE

All rights reserved including the right to reproduce this book or any portion thereof in any form.

First Impression, July 1938

THE BODONI PRESS, INC.

North Tonawanda, N. Y.

Printed in U. S. A.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. The Frog and the Lizard	9
II. The Two Who Were Brothers Indeed	10
III. How the Gond Saved His Field of Gram	11
IV. Bhimsen and Fever	12
V. The King Who Learned From a Cock	13
VI. The Wicked Mother-In-Law	15
VII. How a Wedding Song Saved Property	17
VIII. The Wonderful Ox	20
IX. The Three Drunkards	24
X. Satwanti	25
XI. The Woman on a Fig Tree	28
XII. The Girl Who Understood the Language of Birds and Beasts	29
XIII. The Brahman's Daughter Who Married a Crane	31
XIV. The Eight Foolish Weavers	36
XV. Wealth and Wisdom	37
XVI. The Fox, the Tortoise and the Serpent	40
XVII. The Two Mendicants	41
XVIII. The Bracelet-Sellers	43
XIX. The Fox and the Elephant	45
XX. Three Men In A Boat	47
XXI. The Girl and the Goat	49
XXII. The Mouse With Three Wives	52
XXIII. The Gond Who Sold Firewood	53
XXIV. The Greedy Man and the Liar	55
XXV. The Secret of Knowledge	56
XXVI. Two Blind Men and Their Faith	61